ROBERT K. CHICK, Auditor

School Board Report.

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE DISTRICT OF MADISON :

We herewith present to you our report of the standing of our schools for year ending Feb. 15, 1909 :

The problem of securing good teachers grows harder each year, and this is the general report of towns around us. We pay as high wages as other towns, and more than some, but ambitious teachers, fitted for the work at quite an expense, go where they can have a longer school year with higher wages, or choose some other vocation, as some of our leading teachers have recently done.

We have noted that our best schools are when parents make an occasional visit and encourage teacher and pupils by showing an interest in their work. It helps inspire teachers to their best efforts, and children are quick to appreciate interest in their behalf.

We have, as a rule, best results from our native teachers. In some schools we have been obliged to have new teachers. While they seemed anxious to succeed, the results obtained were not quite what we would expect from more experienced teachers. Two of our pupils have entered high school this year, and there are others, who, with good training and close application, ought to be prepared to go at the close of this school year. It is conceded by teachers who come here from the city that our pupils are fully as advanced as children of the same age in city schools. We regret that more scholars do not take advantage of the winter school at Madison Corner. We have a teacher capable of fitting pupils for any high school and also competent to teach the higher branches here if any pupil wishes to take them.

The fall term at Silver Lake was not completed. With money left over and private tuition, we have had a short, but very successful winter school, taught by Mrs. Warren. The parents have shown an appreciative interest, which goes far toward good results in a school.

We have a good supply of books on hand and new maps ordered.

With appreciation of the courtesies extended us by teachers, scholars and public generally, we respectfully submit this report.

FRANCES F. KNOWLES,
JAMES W. TYLER,
JOHN H. PEARSON,
School Board of Madison.
